

BMG to Present Nov. 6 Program on Lung Cancer

WILLIAMSVILLE, NY – Lung cancer will be the focus of another in a series of Buffalo Medical Group community education programs, Saturday, November 6 at Erie Community College north, 6205 Main Street.

Entitled, “Lung Cancer: New Frontiers. New Hope”, the two-hour program will be held in the Gleasner Hall Auditorium from 10 am to noon. Registration will begin at 9:15.

The event will feature presentations by BMG specialists Nashat H. Rabadi, MD, pulmonologist; James T. Conway, MD, medical oncologist; Steven Gregoritch, MD, radiation medicine, and thoracic surgeon, Russell E. Carlson, MD, of Western New York Thoracic Surgery, LLC. Irene S. Snow, MD, medical director for BMG, will serve as program moderator.

The speakers will discuss how they use a multi-disciplinary approach to prevent, diagnose and treat lung cancer, a disease that takes nearly 160,000 American lives every year. There will be a question and answer session after the formal presentations.

Admission and parking is free. Those attending the program should enter the campus off of Youngs Road.

Reservations are recommended and may be made by calling 630-2690.

Founded in 1946, Buffalo Medical Group, PC, is among the oldest and largest multi-specialty physician practice groups in New York State. With 100 specialists and sub-specialists as well as a team of more than 650 nurses, technologists, and other health care professionals, BMG records more than 400,000 outpatient visits annually.

October 22, 2010
Contact: Michael H. Shaw (716) 630-1193
e-mail: mshaw@buffalomedicalgroup.com