

BMG Radiation Medicine Receives 3-Year Accreditation

WILLIAMSVILLE, NY – The Buffalo Medical Group Department of Radiation Medicine has been awarded a full three-year accreditation by the American College of Radiation Oncology (ACRO).

Located at 295 Essjay Road in Williamsville, the BMG Radiation Medicine Department opened in 1994, and recorded nearly 6,000 outpatient visits in 2007.

“The accreditation process is meticulous and demanding, and only the finest facilities and services meet ACRO’s high standards,” observed Michelle A. Roesler, BMG director of Ancillary Services. “This ACRO endorsement recognizes the competence, dedication and commitment to quality by our physicians and staff, and they are to be commended on this outstanding achievement.”

ACRO is a nationally recognized accreditation commission that holds radiation medicine services to exceptionally high quality, reporting and technology standards.

Founded in 1946, Buffalo Medical Group is among the oldest and largest multi-specialty physician practice groups in New York State and the largest in Western New York. With 100 specialists and sub-specialists as well as a team of 740 nurses, technologists and other health care professionals, BMG records more than 400,000 outpatient visits annually at its main locations in Buffalo, Williamsville and Orchard Park and 25 satellite sites throughout the region.
