Buffalo Medical Group's MyBMGChart Nows Offers Online Bill Pay

WILLIAMSVILLE, NY – Buffalo Medical Group (BMG) patients using MyBMGChart now have a secure and convenient way to pay outstanding charges online through access to online bill pay.

With just a few clicks after logging onto their MyBMGChart account, Buffalo Medical Group patients may conveniently pay their bills with a debit or credit card. The bill pay process is secure because BMG does not store debit or credit card information.

Online bill pay is the latest feature added to MyBMGChart functionality following the addition of an iPhone application announced in April.

Nearly 26,000 Buffalo Medical Group patients are now enrolled in MyBMGChart, the patient portal in BMG's electronic medical record system. Since 2008 MyBMGChart has enabled BMG patients to access their own health information from anywhere in the world using a password protected and secure Internet connection.

BMG patients using MyBMGChart can view test results and medications, review, request and cancel appointments, request prescriptions and receive health reminders. Also an email alert is sent to patients when new information is added to their medical chart.

Buffalo Medical Group patients must have an active MyBMGChart account to use online bill pay. If they do not have an account, they should contact their physician's office to request an access code. Additional information about MyBMGChart is available on the Buffalo Medical Group web site at www.buffalomedicalgroup.com. Interested BMG patients also may call 630-1087.
